MINUTE OF DISSENT.

I have examined the draft proposals carefully but do not see eye to eye with the Commission in so far as the Assembly Constituencies are concerned.

The constituencies in the City Area have been delimited on the basis of Municipal Constituencies (termed as "Divisions" in the order). Many of these constituencies are proposed to be changed by the Chief Commissioner, Delhi and the draft thereof has already been published in a notification in the Gazette for inviting objections from the Public. The final notification in this behalf, which, evidently, will radically change these Municipal Constituencies, may perhaps be issued before the final order of the Delimitation Commission is passed. The ensuing Municipal Elections will undoubtedly be held on the re-delimited municipal constituencies and as such the very object of a simple description of the Assembly constituencies will fail because an elector who is now in municipal constituency 'A' may perhaps now fall in constituency 'B' in the proposed re-delimitation and as such the proposed order of the Commission is likely to confuse the electorate in as much as they are obviously to take concept of their newly formed Municipal Constituencies and not the old ones on which the order is based, especially when the names of the proposed and the old constituencies of the municipality are the same. It therefore, seems imperative that taking into consideration the convenience of the electorate, for whose representation these constituencies are being delimited, the Commission may defer their final order for a few days and try to readjust their proposals on the basis of the newly formed Municipal Constituencies.

In particular, in delimiting the Assembly Constituencies in New Delhi Parliamentary Constituency, certain elementary requirements have been over-looked by the Commission. Besides in the Assembly Constituencies in Rural Areas the Commission has, in its proposals, ignored an important aspect, in so far as they have delimited these constituencies on the basis of Qanungo Circles, while the more convenient units, viz. the Zail, which bears closer affinity and homogeneity of population, has been over-looked. Although this factor has been taken into account while delimiting constituencies in Urban Areas, it seems to have been lost sight of in Rural Areas.

I, therefore, dissent and have to offer the following comments:—

NEW DELHI PARLIAMENTARY CONSTITUENCY

The constituency comprises of (i) New Delhi Municipality, (ii) Delhi Cantonment Board Area, (iii) West Delhi Notified Area (now merged into Delhi Municipality), and (iv) Certain divisions of Delhi Municipality in Pahar Ganj and Karol Bagh Areas. Their population, respectively, is (i) 2,76,314 (ii) 40,950 (iii) 58,862 (iv) Divisions of Pahar Ganj 59,355 and (v) Divisions of Karol Bagh Area 1,41,928. 16 seats being allotted to this Parliamentary Constituency, the average population per Assembly seat works out to 36,088.

The population of Delhi Cantonment Board Area, which in itself is sufficient to entitle one Assembly seat within that area has not been given one seat, because the effective population is much less and although a part of New Delhi Municipality area having a population of about 5,475 has been added to it, the effective population of Delhi Cantonment Assembly Constituency is in the neighbourhood of 29,000. Similarly the proposed Lajpat Nagar and Lodi Colony Assembly Constituencies have been formed with a population of 30,192 and 30,299, apparently because the population of these areas has grown up rapidly after 1951 census. While, this aspect appears to have been lost sight of in determining the constituencies in the West Delhi Notified Area, it could conveniently be allotted two seats namely Patel Nagar and Kishanganj with a population of 29,034 and 29,828 respectively, on the analogy of Lajpat Nagar, Lodi Road and Delhi Cantonment constituencies because the population of both the said areas in West Delhi has not only rapidly grown up but stands almost doubled at present. It would, therefore, be only fair if the same consideration is given to the electorate of this area as has been taken into account in the case of the above-mentioned three constituencies.

Karol Bagh divisions of Delhi Municipality, which have a population of 1,41,928 call for allotment of 4 seats to that area on the said average of 36,088 per seat; and if divided into three constituencies (2 single member and one double member) as proposed in statement I (items 3-5) appended to this note, will give us better constituencies than those proposed by the Commission and the double member constituency will have a concentration of 37 per cent. scheduled caste population as against 32·33 per cent. in the proposed constituency in the draft order. The provisions of the Act require that a reserved seat is to be given where there is the largest concentration of scheduled caste population. Consequently our proposal is more in conformity with the requirements of the Act. This arrangement will necessitate certain dislocation in the remaining Assembly constituencies and they can be changed for the better, embodying certain minor amendments, as discussed in statement I annexed hereto. Of course, there may be a fall of about 2 per cent. in the scheduled caste concentration in the other double member constituency but in fact the position is just the reverse because the percentage of effective scheduled caste population will be rather more than that proposed in the Double Member Assembly Constituency in the draft order. Consequently, this change is also desirable to be more in accord with the provisions of the Act.

OUTER DELHI PARLIAMENTARY CONSTITUENCY

Taking into account the rural constituencies that have been delimited on the basis of Qanungo Circles by the Commission, we have a fundamental difference. The rural position and circumstances in this State are in alignment with the neighbouring State of the Punjab (of which originally this State was a part) where the Commission has already passed their final order. Although there are also Qanungo Circles in that State, for obvious reasons, the Commission had formed the Assembly constituencies in the rural areas of that State, taking the Zails as a Primary Unit. As aforesaid, apart from being convenient and commonly known among the masses, this unit puts forth a closer affinity of the population and taking into account all these factors I am inclined to contend that the Assembly constituencies in this State be also formed on the basis of Zails as a Unit. A draft of the proposed Assembly constituencies on these lines has been set out in Statement II.
